

2020 Tax Information Guide

Enclosed you'll find information to help you complete your 2020 tax return. The tax forms we send to you include details that are reported to the IRS.

As always, the information contained in this guide should not be considered tax advice. Please consult your accountant, tax advisor or tax professional for detailed information applicable to your unique situation.

Form 1099-DIV is included if you had taxable distributions of $10 or more from any of your funds. Your distributions are taxable whether you take them in cash or reinvest them in additional shares. For federal tax purposes, the fund's income and short-term capital gain distributions are taxed as ordinary income and long-term capital gain distributions are taxed as long-term capital gains.

Form 1099-B is provided if you sold or exchanged shares in 2020. When you redeem shares, you will experience a capital gain or loss if there is a difference between the tax basis of your shares and the price you receive when you redeem them. The federal tax treatment will depend on how long you owned the shares and your individual tax position. If you perform an exchange transaction of fund shares for shares of another fund, it is considered a sale and purchase of shares for federal income tax purposes and may result in a capital gain or loss.

Form 1099-R is enclosed if you have taken a distribution or distributions in the past year from an Oakmark IRA. It lists gross distributions, taxable amounts, and any federal and state taxes withheld. Withdrawals from a traditional IRA are taxable in the year you receive them. If you withdraw from your traditional IRA, federal income tax will be withheld at a flat rate of 10% (unless when you request your distribution you elect not to have tax withheld or you elect a different withholding amount). Withdrawals from your Roth IRA are not generally subject to tax withholding.

Form 1099-Q is enclosed if you have taken a distribution, including asset transfers, from a Coverdell Education Savings Account (ESA). Please see IRS Publication 970, "Tax Benefits for Education," for information about how to calculate the earnings portion of the gross distribution.

Form 5498 reports contribution information and fair-market values for traditional IRAs, Roth IRAs, Education Savings Accounts (ESAs), Simplified Employee Pension (SEP) IRAs and Savings Incentive Match Plan for Employees (SIMPLE) IRAs. This form will be sent after the close of the 2021 contribution deadline for 2020 contributions. It is for your records only and does not need to be filed with your tax return.

Frequently Asked Questions

Why are the dividend and capital gains distributions from my IRAs excluded from Form 1099-DIV?

Funds you hold in a retirement account, such as an IRA, are not listed on Form 1099-DIV because you do not need to report those earnings until they are withdrawn.

Where can I obtain IRA forms and publications?

Federal tax forms and publications can be downloaded from the IRS website at irs.gov/Forms-&Pubs. For regular accounts, please refer to IRS Publication 550 and 551. For IRAs, please refer to IRS Publication 590-A and 590-B.

What are the IRS Cost Basis Regulations?

Shares purchased before January 1, 2012 ("non-covered shares"), use the average cost single category method. Shares purchased after January 1, 2012, are referred to by the IRS as "covered shares."

Cost basis for covered shares sold will be reported to the IRS according to the method you chose. The sections of the form are based on whether the shares sold were held long term or short term and whether cost basis has been reported to the IRS. A single redemption could be separated into multiple sections depending on the type and age of the shares that were sold.

Qualified Dividend Income

Mutual fund distributions that are attributable to dividends received on qualified stock (therefore “qualified dividends”) are taxed at the long-term capital gains rates instead of the higher ordinary income tax rates. Box 1b on Form 1099-DIV shows the portion of the amount in Box 1a that qualifies for the reduced rate. Please refer to the instructions in your IRS Form 1040 for information about reporting qualified dividends, including holding period requirements.

Foreign Income

Investment income received by a fund from sources within foreign countries may be subject to foreign income taxes withheld at the source. If a fund pays nonrefundable taxes to foreign governments during the year, the taxes will reduce the fund’s dividends. If a fund qualifies for, and makes, a special election, your share of such foreign taxes will be includable in your income and you may be able to claim an offsetting credit or deduction on your tax return for your share of such foreign taxes. Foreign taxes paid has been reported in Box 7 on your Form 1099-DIV (“Foreign tax paid”) as well as included in your gross income in Box 1a and 1b on your Form 1099-DIV. The foreign tax credit amounts below are per share amounts. Generally, country-by-country foreign source income information is not required for taxpayers to claim the foreign tax credit.
